

Really Let It Out by Neverwonder

Written by David Brown
Edited by Terri Bassett

Neverwonder is:

Alima Soul – Vocals and Background Vocals

Vincent Ramos – Bass and Background Vocals

Andres Ramos – Drums, Percussion, and
Background Vocals

Scott Ramsey – Electric and Acoustic Guitars and
Background Vocals

Additional musicians:

Konrad Thompson: Piano and Keyboard on “Spinning” and “Enough”.

Art H. Hafen: B3, Rhodes, and Keyboard on “Help Me” and “Let It Out”.

Produced by Neverwonder and E. Recorded at The Record Studios, Orange, CA and TQ Studios, West
Hills, CA

Neverwonder is a four-piece powerhouse based in L.A., whose musical chemistry is firmly grounded on the rock solid grooves of the Ramos Brothers, Vincent and Andres. These guys know how to lock in to the pocket! It has been said that harmonies from family members are rich and powerful, vocally. These guys show this same idea to be true by creating a tightly constructed, concrete foundation, built from the bricks and mortar of Rock, Pop, and Soul, for guitarist Scott Ramsey to be free to drive his nitrous-fueled guitar virtuosity unhindered.

This trio sets the stage for vocalist Alima Soul.. and let me tell you... you better fasten your seatbelts!!

Alima means healer of your spirit and soul, skilled in song and dance. Alima hails from the San Francisco Bay area and has been performing since she was six-years-old. Alima steps up to the mike and ignites the room with her passion for music and her desire to create music that touches and enhances the lives of people. She brings this energy to Neverwonder with soul and power in her performances, songwriting, and persona.

Neverwonder has just released their debut CD, Really Let It Out. The CD is a five song EP that showcases Alima's incredibly soulful vocal prowess, the extensive musicianship of the Ramos brothers and Scott Ramsey, all mixed and produced in such a way as to enhance the lyrical content of the music. Bravo to E at The Record Studios and Timothy Quail for their fine craftsmanship on the mix. The only complaint I have about this CD is that it is too short... I want more!! "Spinning" just blows me away! Alima's vocals are so rich and strong. Her power, passion, and desire carry the listener away! I am looking forward to hearing more from Neverwonder!

Check out Neverwonder at www.neverwonder.com/.